

Here's how we can help you power a more sustainable world.

Since 1995, PSC has developed an outstanding reputation as world-class consultants to the electricity industry, built on a foundation of mutual trust and respect with our clients around the world. We are a global team of diligent problem solvers delivering deep insights and distinct expertise, quickly and capably, helping our clients navigate a rapidly evolving industry.

OUR INDUSTRY AND CLIENT PROFILE

As specialist consultants to the electricity industry, our focus is delivering exceptional value to our clients. Major electricity transmission organizations, generators, market operators, vendors, and distribution companies count on PSC for deep insights, independent advice, and services ranging from project consulting assignments to multi-year strategic engagements.

As an independent consulting organization, we are able to suggest the solutions that best meets our clients' needs, regardless of the technology involved. We achieve this through our deep domain knowledge, extensive industry connections, and exposure to best-of-breed solutions around the world. This, coupled with our guiding principle of operating in our clients' best interest, enables us to develop high value, needs-based partnerships with our clients.

Our clients also find PSC's stability and consistency are valuable in both the immediate and long-term. Our clients benefit from familiar faces serving them year after year, responsively supporting their technologies and initiatives. PSC brings a collaborative approach to knowledge sharing within our client relationships, grounded in mutual trust and respect. This allows our clients' project teams to benefit from our extensive global knowledge and experience.
